Days To Go

Days To Go is a number countdown for the end of school, days until whoever turns 40, days until... Each number page says simply "30 Days To Go," and on down, in outline letters to be colored. Computer nerds or those "Crayola" challenged may use the paint program to color.

I've done this activity with intermediate kids for years. I'm doing it this year with my special ed kids who need lots of coloring, lots of counting practice, and lots of different things to do at the end of the school year. I wondered if anyone might find these useful.

Days To Go is packaged as either 30 individual AppleWorks 5 paint documents or one 30 page long ClarisWorks wordprocessing document. It's free, because it's not much really. But maybe it'll get you and me through tomorrow!
